Lahore, Pakistan (10th April 2008) FutureNow Technologies, a leading provider of technology solutions, announced the successful move of its Lahore office, consisting of approximately 50 employees, to its new location (146 Central Commercial Area, Phase 4, Lahore).

“Our Lahore office has more than doubled in size in the past one year, and our new location accommodates our rapid expansion with state-of-the-art technology and conferencing capabilities,” said Mian Arif Ali, Director Operations FutureNow Technologies (Pvt) Ltd.

The firm moved over 50 employees into its new office space on Monday, and will be able to accommodate over 150 employees in the new space. The firm now occupies 5,000 square feet on 4 floors of the building located in the heart of DHA.

The design of the new office space reflects the firm’s collaborative culture as part of its commitment to provide excellent client service. Each of the four floors features an open floor plan that brings in light to enhance the feeling of spaciousness in the overall layout. The architecture of the building itself includes a curtain wall that reflects and filters in light that changes color throughout the day. The space includes numerous internal and external teaming areas, including wireless, interactive conference and board rooms for client meetings.
